

April is Earth Month, the perfect time to join Brookhaven's new Sustainability Committee!

The goals of the committee are to 1) foster dialogue around environmental and sustainability matters and 2) pursue projects related to sustainability in the borough. Some examples of what the committee could do include projects around clean energy and the preservation and use of green space and hosting educational workshops on topics such as gardening with native plants. If you're interested in getting involved, please contact Councilwoman Nora Fulvio at nora.fulvio@brookhavenboro.com.

Our first meeting date will be announced soon.
